

MEMORIAL FOR SOLDIERS AND SAILORS

Washington, May 17.—To the memory of the soldiers and sailors who fought the battles of the United States in all wars, a great memorial amphitheater was dedicated Saturday in Arlington National Cemetery.

The ceremonies were attended by veterans of three wars, members of the diplomatic corps, cabinet, senate, house and other government officials and a large gathering of people. A procession of army, navy and marine corps detachments, veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic and allied organizations, Spanish War Veterans and World War Veterans led by Major General Nelson A. Miles (retired) preceded the ceremonies.

The dedicatory exercises were under the auspices of the Grand Army of the Republic to whose efforts credit is given for the inception of the memorial and for 18 years of work for it. Secretary Baker, Secretary Daniels, both members of the commission which had charge of the construction of the memorial, and Colonel D. M. Hall of Columbus, O., commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, were the principal speakers. The great structure of white marble, built by the government at a cost of $225,000 stands in the southern part of Arlington National Cemetery amid the graves of thousands of the nation's dead. Near it are the Maine Memorial, where the battleship Maine's fighting top stands sentinel over the graves of the men who lost their lives when the vessel was sunk in Havana harbor, and the Confederate Memorial surrounded by the graves of southerners. Besides commanding a view of the cemetery, the memorial overlooks the Potomac river and the city of Washington. It contains a chapel and seats 5,000 people.

Fifty-six years ago yesterday Arlington National Cemetery was first issued when President Lincoln personally witnessed the burial there of 12 soldiers who died in the hospital on the Arlington estate abandoned by General Robert E. Lee's family at the beginning of the Civil war and bought by the United States at a tax sale for hospital purposes. Later the government paid the Lee heirs $150,000. Soldiers Home cemetery was filled and Quartermaster General Meigs, with President Lincoln's consent, ordered the soldiers buried in Arlington. That was the beginning of Arlington National Cemetery which has become one of the shrines of the nation's soldier and sailor dead.

For years a little vine-clad amphitheater served for ceremonies on Memorial Days, when the president of the United States usually was the orator, but the gatherings outgrew this and the Grand Army of the Republic 18 years ago began a movement for the memorial amphitheater. Authorization for construction was given by congress several years ago, and a commission appointed to carry out the plans. Besides the secretary of war, who is chairman of the commission, and the secretary of the navy, the commission was composed of Elliott Woods, superintendent of the United States Capitol Building and Grounds; Colonel John McElroy, representing the Grand Army of the Republic; Fred Beall, representing the United Confederate Veterans; and Charles W. Newton, representing the Spanish War Veterans. The Arlington Memorial Amphitheater is said to be the only memorial of its kind in the world, monuments and memorials of all kinds having been erected to generals and other leaders, but none heretofore has been erected to the soldiers and sailors who fought all the battles of the country.

TO THE MUSIC LOVING PUBLIC OF EASTERN CONNECTICUT

Service is a WORD much used by some business houses, but seldom lived up to. WE DON'T BRAG ABOUT OUR SERVICE, WE GIVE IT. Ask our patrons—they know.

A store is judged by the merchandise it sells. We are the only music store in Norwich selling nationally known Phonographs and Pianos exclusively. Think it over.

We again call attention to the fact that any dealer who advertises the new Victor monthly records for sale earlier than the 1st of each month is advertising misleadingly.

Special attractive terms on Victor and Brunswick Phonograph Outfits all this week, before we open our great big new store Saturday morning.
